Seventy Warren County Men To Be Sent to Erie for Examination On June 20 Under New Draft System

report for final physical examinations on June 20, prior to induction into the U.S. Army under the new examination plan of the Selective Service, it was announced in an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg.

This number will include 36 from Local Board No. 1 and 34 from Local Board No. 2, it was stated. These men will be sent to the new examination station in Eric and those who pass will then have from 10 to 30 days in which to conclude their affairs before actual induction. Notice of the date of actual induction will be given to the men later.

Heretofore, the local contingents have been sent to Pittsburgh and 6 at Irvine. if they passed their final examinations, they were inducted into the army immediately.

The state is divided into eight districts, instead of five, for induction of registrants under the new plan. The new breakdown adds examination stations at Scranton, and Pittsburgh.

All selectees from Clarion, Crawford, Erie, Forest, Mercer, Venango and Warren counties will ed during the past month.

At the regular meeting of the Warren County Motor Club board of governors, held yesterday noon following a luncheon at the Exchange Hotel, announcement was made that flasher signals are to be placed at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing on U. S. route

This work, it was stated, is the result of a petition filed before the Public Utility Commission by the motor club for the protection of the traveling public.

During the meeting, announcement was made that the 35th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation will be held in williamsport and Erie, and con-tinues those at Philadelphia, Altoona, May 23 and 24. It was decided that Manager L. E. Seavy and one of the directors should attend this meeting.

There were 45 members report-were H. M. Mohr, H. B. Bowersox, P. D. Belknap, W. M. Hill, Clifford Johnson, Ed Lowrey, Allison Wade and F. J. Haggerty, of Warren; Donald E. Schuler, North Warren; M. E. Mariner and Elton Barton, Youngsville, and I. G. Darling, Russell.

THE DRAFT AGE

Considerable discussion has been heard following... publication of a dispatch in the Times-Mirror recently that General Lewis S. Hershey, national director of Selective Service would revise the U.S. Draft procedure to exempt men over thirty years of age.

From another source comes a suggestion that after ample Army reserves have been acquired under the Selective Service, it may seem desirable to so modify the law that only men between the ages of 18 and 23 should be called out.

Here in Warren as well as throughout the nation the wish is being ardently expressed that the world would so settle down that it would not be necessary to draft anybody, but with the war makers strutting up and down and threatening to fight, compulsory military service appears necessary for this country at the present

Young men from 18 to 23 are perhaps the best fitted as respects physical ability for Army service, but older men would have more judgment and experience. General Hershey, however, is of the opinion "that men over thirty are past their physical peak and many find it hard to learn new skills."

Many believe the decision as to whether or not the age limit for Selective Service men is to be changed would seem to depend on how imminent the danger of war seemed. If it was not very threatening, it might seem more reasonable to take men when quite young. so as not to interfere so seriously with family life and industrial relations.

BIG DAY FOR THE BOYS

With their companions filling important offices, such as burgess, police chief, fire chief, president of council, borough secretary, borough solicitor, etc., tomorrow will be a big day for the boys of Warren.

These offices, along with the editor-in-chief of the Times-Mirror, will be filled by boys between the hours of eleven and twelve o'clock tomorrow. After having participated in such events in the past we think it is a

The project can be made more interesting for the boys with a little co-operation on the part of the adult population of the community.

We suggest interested citizens give the above-mentioned offices a ring, or personal call, between eleven and twelve tomorrow. #### THE DRAFT AGE

Considerable discussion has been heard following. publication of a dispatch in the Times-Mirror recently that General Lewis S. Hershey, national director of Selective Service would revise the U.S. Draft procedure to exempt men over thirty years of age.

From another source comes a suggestion that after ample Army reserves have been acquired under the Selective Service, it may seem desirable to so modify the law that only men between the ages of 18 and 23 should be called out.

Here in Warren as well as throughout the nation the wish is being ardently expressed that the world would so settle down that it would not be necessary to draft anybody, but with the war makers strutting up and down and threatening to fight, compulsory military service appears necessary for this country at the present

Young men from 18 to 23 are perhaps the best fitted as respects physical ability for Army service, but older men would have more judgment and experience. General Hershey, however, is of the opinion "that men over thirty are past their physical peak and many find it hard to learn new skills.'

Many believe the decision as to whether or not the age limit for Selective Service men is to be changed would seem to depend on how imminent the danger of war seemed. #### THE DRAFT AGE

Considerable discussion has been heard following. publication of a dispatch in the Times-Mirror recently that General Lewis S. Hershey, national director of Selective Service would revise the U.S. Draft procedure to exempt men over thirty years of age.

From another source comes a suggestion that after ample Army reserves have been acquired under the Selective Service, it may seem desirable to so modify the law that only men between the ages of 18 and 23 should be called out.

Here in Warren as well as throughout the nation the wish is being ardently expressed that the world would so settle down that it would not be necessary to draft anybody, but with the war makers strutting up and down and threatening to fight, compulsory military service appears necessary for this country at the present

Young men from 18 to 23 are perhaps the best fitted as respects physical ability for Army service, but older men would have more judgment and experience. General Hershey, however, is of the opinion "that men over thirty are past their physical peak and many find it hard to learn new skills."

Many believe the decision as to whether or not the age limit for Selective Service men is to be changed would seem to depend on how imminent the danger of war seemed. If it was not very threatening, it might seem more reasonable to take men when quite young. so as not to interfere so seriously with family life and industrial relations.

BIG DAY FOR THE BOYS

With their companions filling important offices, such as burgess, police chief, fire chief, president of council, borough secretary, borough solicitor, etc., tomorrow will be a big day for the boys of Warren.

These offices, along with the editor-in-chief of the Times-Mirror, will be filled by boys between the hours of eleven and twelve o'clock tomorrow. After having participated in such events in the past we think it is a

The project can be made more interesting for the boys with a little co-operation on the part of the adult population of the community.

We suggest interested citizens give the above-mentioned offices a ring, or personal call, between eleven and twelve tomorrow. You may be surprised to learn just how much the boys know about municipal affairs. and they can be taught considerable more in the short space of an hour by some practical discussions regarding affairs of the particular office they will be filling.

If you find any of those webs of tent caterpillars on your fruit trees, the Department of Forests and Waters recommends you fasten a brush, dipped in kerosene, to the end of a long pole and burn them out, using care not to hold the flame in one place too long. as it may injure the bark.

The nigh school a cappella choir scored another triumph in their fourth annual spring concert last evening. Congratulations to Mr. Fowler, Mr. Summers and the participating students.

It will be good news to Warren county motorists to learn that flasher signals are being installed at that dangerous crossing on U.S. Route 6 at Irvine.

The weatherman does not seem very much interested in the success of Warren's first murble tournament.

If you have not completed that Mother's Day shopping better get busy early tomorrow.

I used to take his picture out and study it for nours at a time, trying to visualize him bareheaded, in a straw hat, or even in a cap. I wanted his mind. One morning about 4 a.m., I was going home. I had a newspaper in my hand. It was at 46th street and Seventh avenue. As I hailed a cab another cab rolled up and this Irishman got out. I recognized him. I waited until he had paid the fare, because I wanted the cabby to have his tip. Then I "introduced" myself and presented my credentials which included my badge and my gun,

It Looks Like a Maypole Dance

Out in the high school yard, the girls are dancing around the may-pole. Notice the long skirts and flowing hair. Does anyone re-member in what year this celebration was photographed? If you can help us, please call 1320 or write to Metzger-Wright's. What we learn from you will be published later?

Hidden away in a dark corner of the Times-Mirror attic, a box of old electrotypes was found recently. Many were too faded to use. But some interesting ones of Warren of an earlier day came to light. This is the 3rd picture reprinted from the old plates.

DORCAS CLASS

About twenty members of the Dorcas Class enjoyed a business and social meeting Tuesday evening at the home of the president of the class, Mrs. Clayton Young. At the business session the need of Red Cross work was presented and the membership of the class was urged to co-operate in every way possible with this work.

The class voted to pay twenty dollars on the church debt, this being the money received from the serving of the father and son banquet to the Men's Brotherhood. After a social time pleasing refreshments were served by the fine physique and a handsome face and an easy stance on horses, he landed in pictures. In the movie he comes over from an Arizona ranch and, for the same reasons, gets a chance at pictures. In real and reel, he was an embarrassingly bad actor. In the bits they gave him to do, he has been handsome and stiff and self-conscious. In the movie, he is put through one screen test after another to see if he has possibilities. In the movie, having a cowboy candidate for the screen, they test him first in evening clothes, next in a Tarzan tiger skin, in every other conceivable costume. He's terrible in any clothes until somebody happily thinks of testing him as a cowboy. He clicks. (If you think this is far-fetched, remember that Clark Gable, when first tested at M-G-M, was clad in a South Sea island loin cloth with a flower behind his ear!)

In the movie, it's love that works the miracle. George is in love with the temperamental stellar hellion, Crystal Wayne (Mary Beth Hughes.) When he gets a test with Crystal, his awkwardness disappears and he acts "nat-

In real life, it wasn't love. It was probably Ray McCarey's direction which included a preliminary course in seeing Gary Cooper movies. "Don't copy him, McCarey told George, "but be as natural as he is.'

Whatever it was, George looks like an actor in "The Cowboy and the Blonde." He's easy and "natural," and he talks - as some have noted - like Gable. The picture, by the way, is a bright little number, the more effective because, in ribbing Hollywood, it doesn't exaggerate much. But Hollywood is funny enough as it is.

On another set they were erecting the native temple with grotesque statues, grottoes, and all the usual appurtenances.

Why, I asked, do they keep do ing it, and doing it, and doing it? The answer: "Typhoon," corny a tropic-isle concoction was ever made, is grossing well into its second millios

Coach Heinie Kolpien's track and field men will have to pull up the anchor tomorrow afternoon unless they want to trail badly the visiting firemen from Kane and Bradford. The track teams from the hilltop and the oil center boast plenty of stars, most brilliant of whom is, of course, Kane's Bill Hillman who throws cinders for miles when he digs his cleate into the oval. It is probable that some of the Beaty Field track records will fall, including perhaps the 100 yard dash, the 220 and the pole vault. One new mark was set two weeks ago which may stand for a little while, that the five feet, seven inch high jump by Kane of Mt. Jewett. Another mark in the 120 low hurdles, a Class B event, which is not often run here, was made by Johnson, also of Mt. Jewett, who skipped over the timbers in 15.6 seconds, lowering the record of Swanson of Kane, set in 1938, by

These are, of course, Beaty Field marks. There are many others in the history of track here which will doubtless stand for many The only one in particular peril is Dick Schumacher's 23 seconds in the 220, set in 1925. Hillman came within one-tenth of a second of tying it last year and may equal or smash it tomorrow. If Schuie" had had a crack at Beaty oval instead of what passed for rest of the tilt. a track at Russell Field, he would have undoubtedly rung up a mark which would have been safe for good. When your agent was doing his best to get through Warren High's comparatively easy curriculum, a five-flat mile, executed by Tom Moran, was good enough to take care of most of the competition. Emmy's 4:54 is about as fine a feat, when it is remembered that Russell Field was practically a dirt track, as is Monte Scott's century and Schuie's 220. Other cash and distance marks set at the old field are, of course, equally impressive.

LOCAL JALLOPY RACE ATTRACTS BIG GATHERING

National Youth Week activities of the Y. M. C. A. continued yesterday afternoon with a soap box jallopy race, which was held on Prospect street between Division street and Fifth avenue, with Bob Amacher as the final winner.

This was the first attempt at such an activity in Warren and proved the high spot of the week's program. While only ten racers were entered, a large crowd of enthusiastic bystanders added to the spirit of the occasion. Several near collisions occurred, but there was only one time when the wheel of one of the racers came down the hill faster than the racer.

Heat winners were as follows: First heat, Bill Clinger; second, Joseph Waller; third, Jack Mangini; fourth, Alan Schuler; fifth Bob Amacher. In the semi-finals, Amacher outran Clinger and Waller outran Schuler, while Mangini

Still 'Thumbs Up' for British Prisoners in Africa

Little thing like being captured by the Germans in Africa doesn't daunt spirits of these British soldiers, who smile from under their sun helmets and waggle thumbs upward. Berlin radioed this picture to the U.S., saying it shows British prisoners in an axis concentration camp in Africa.
